

The New Hartford Land Trust invites you to its 2007 Annual Meeting and a presentation on

'Connecticut's Farming Renaissance'

Jiff Martin

New England Field Representative, American Farmland Trust
Project Director, Working Lands Alliance

Sunday, February 25, 2007
4:00 p.m.

Town Hall – Senior Center

The Meeting will also showcase several New Hartford Land Trust properties accessible to the public for passive recreation such as hiking, cross-country skiing and snowshoeing.

Come out on a wintry Sunday afternoon to hear an interesting and engaging speaker, learn about new places to hike, have some refreshments and see your neighbors!

About our Speaker:

Ms. Martin's past experience includes work on sustainable food and agriculture policy on behalf of Hartford Food System; research on food emergencies and trade economies in Eastern Africa for USAID; and teaching public school in New Orleans. She received the Connecticut Trust for Historic Preservation's Merit Award for grassroots advocacy. Martin holds advanced degrees in Development Economics from the Fletcher School of Law & Diplomacy and in Food Policy from Tufts School of Nutrition. In her spare time, she has hiked the entire Appalachian Trail and is devoted to community gardening, including small-scale retail of cut flowers in the Hartford city farmers' market.
